Joyce's Jottings

Blazing heat one day and rainy cool weather the next! I don't know why we would be surprised because that is the way the weather works in Southeast Missouri. The cooler weather makes me want to sit and sew on all these cute fall projects that decorate the shop. We also have some neat samples up for the Christmas season. Come in and see what new things we have added.

I am excited to be bringing you a new class--making a bag using cork. Join me and let's have fun together. This could be a great gift idea for the holidays.

Enjoy the cooler weather that is hopefully going to come and stay!
